

TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR USING THE WEB SITE OF THE CENTRAL BANK OF TUNISIA (BCT)

This site is edited by the Central Bank of Tunisia, a national public institution governed by law n° 58-90 of 19 September 1958.

The content of this site can only be modified, updated or cancelled by the BCT and without prior notice.

The BCT does neither stand surety for the exhaustiveness or “up-to-date” feature of the site content nor be responsible for any detriment or damage led by the use of its web site.

Access to the overall content of this site leads to the user’s adherence to the following conditions :

ROYALTY

The overall content of the web site is protected by a royalty and represents an exclusive ownership of the BCT except for the legal provisions into effect which exempt the official regulating texts from the royalty.

Users can print and download information or data from the site for exclusively personal targets.

They are not authorised to recopy all or part of the site on another site or on an internal network.

They are neither authorised to sell or distribute the content of the site nor to derive from it other products for commercial reasons without prior approval by the BCT.

To obtain authorisation of the BCT, users of the site must contact the site administrator at the following address: bct@bct.gov.tn/

When these data and information are reproduced to be quoted, they must be published accurately and the web site must be quoted as a source.

CREATING LINKS

Creation of hypertext link to the web site of the BCT is authorised providing that integrity is preserved, that the initial site clearly mentions the electronic address (http:// www.bct.gov.tn/) and that the link is open in a new navigator window.

The BCT is in no way responsible for the presence of a link to its site as from a third site. The Bank has the right to ask for cancellation of any link without having to justify its decision.
